NOTE

NOTE

- tell us in general
- outcome #3
- outcome #4
- tell us about gaps and weaknesses

4. Data/Results

General findings

- The exam is academically challenging
- The exam centers student ownership and agency.
- The exam has practical and tangible use for students.

indirectly

- Community connections and/or co-curricular experiences played a crucial role in students' opportunities to analyze social justice issues in education.
- Social justice concerns were not centered intentionally in the comps task

Findings related to outcome #4

- Students take a personal stance on learning and curriculum theories through the new comps model.

put their knowledge to use

- Beyond explaining learning and curriculum theories, students actively use those theories to shape, inform, and guide their scholarly work.
